

Presenting our customers with options has proven key to Argus' success. We have always provided our customers with the services and support required to manage their own pharmacy networks. Now customers can choose to take advantage of the Argus retail pharmacy networks. These networks give national coverage while letting customers retain unique plan design and management.

Argus networks

The unique and flexible nature of our networks provide strength. We offer five standard Argus retail networks. The combined networks include connections with all major pharmacy chains. Each of these networks provide three payment cycles per month, varying rates, and are designed to support customers of varying size and configuration.

specialty networks

Along with the five standard networks, Argus offers specialty networks to address many specialized forms of care. We've developed networks that focus on individual care, with the understanding that long term care, including nursing home and assisted living, and hospice care present different needs than retail or mail networks.

Argus is also developing a specialty network to provide discounted pricing for a set of high cost products. Argus can offer the discount to customers who may be unaware of its availability through the retail channel.

customer networks

We bring 14 years experience helping customers manage their own proprietary networks by providing the administrative services required. To take advantage of a local concentration of lives within your geographical area, Argus can co-brand a pharmacy network specifically for you. You can have deeply discounted networks in your geographic area or primary service area and at the same time wrap it with our national network for your members who are mobile, while still providing pharmacies with three payment cycles per month.

We support networks for customers who maintain their own network contracts. Each network can have its own variable reimbursement rates, dispensing fees, MAC lists, and so on, as well as its own schedule for pharmacy reimbursement. Argus can accept point-of-sale claims from any pharmacy in the United States via leased lines with retail chains, mail-order facilities, and electronic switches.

Argus maintains only non-exclusive agreements with mail pharmacy services, enabling us to contract with the vendor of your choice. Regardless of the vendor, we provide the same extensive capabilities for mail-order claims as we provide for retail claims, including preadjudication, eligibility, claims processing, reporting, and financial reimbursement.

Argus strives to be a Pharmacy Benefit Partner by offering this comprehensive range of options to satisfy customers' business needs by using combinations of our networks. Argus' one-stop-shop approach provides customers a comprehensive snapshot of drug spend across their entire book of business, and helps them realize the greatest net benefit.

Argus provides the options and level of network support you require. You can choose the network options best suited for your business needs and let Argus do the rest.
